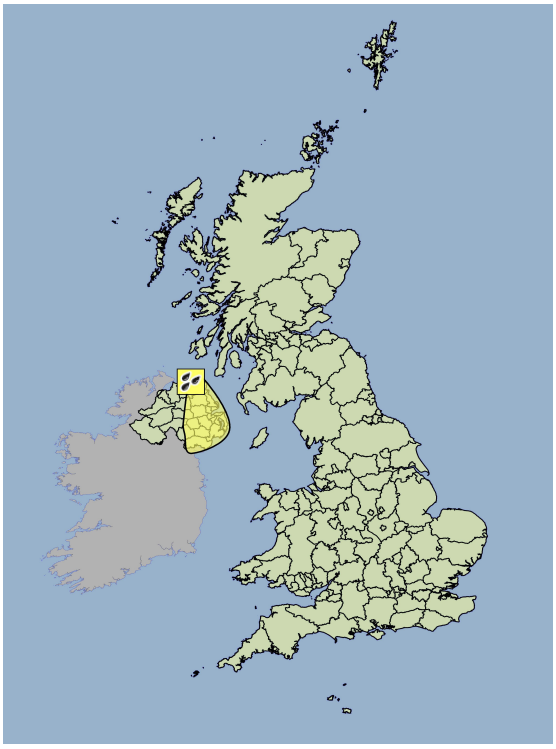
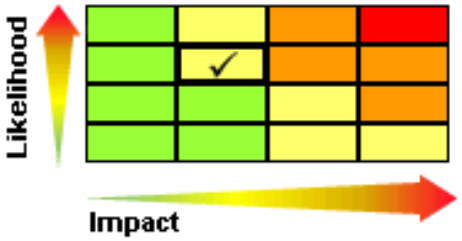
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
An active frontal system will move eastwards across Northern Ireland during Monday morning, bringing a spell of heavy rain. The largest rainfall totals will be over upland areas of the east exposed to the strong southerly winds.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 07:00 on Mon, 30th Dec 2013 until 11:00 on Mon, 30th Dec 2013

Rain, heavy at times, will persist for a few more hours of Monday morning, clearing the east of Northern Ireland by midday. Further accumulations of 10-20 mm are likely.

The rain will fall on already saturated ground, so the public should be aware of the risk of localised flooding.

This is an update to extend the warning until 1100 Monday.
